Recommendation for FL Technics

Kuban Airlines is a Russia based domestic and international carrier with its roots dating back to 1932. With our main base in Krasnodar International Airport, not only are we an experienced and trustworthy company, but also a flexible and innovative services provider.

We are constantly working on achieving the best possible results; therefore, selecting the right partners is one of our top priorities. FL Technics has been working with us since the very beginning. We already operate 3 Boeing 737-300 aircraft; our plans include completely reorganizing and exchanging 14 of our YAK-42 with new modern western aircraft by the year 2013. The entire process is very complex and requires great technical expertise and FL Technics has what it takes to make everything run as smoothly as possible.

FL Technics has been taking care of our line maintenance and engineering support, supplying parts in accordance with the PBH agreement, providing technical training and assistance during aircraft delivery.

The success of our collaboration lies in the shared values which are experience, dedication, flexibility and expertise. We are proud to recommend FL Technics to any company looking for trustworthy and professional partners.
